World Cup & Test Matches

Ron Hanson Medal

The Ron Hanson Medal was introduced at the Masters Trans-Tasman in June 2010 to commemorate Australian flagbearers appointed for Open and Masters international tournaments. Ron Hanson began playing Touch Football in 1968, playing in the very first Touch competition after a stellar Rugby League career representing Eastern Suburbs. Hanson was captain for New South Wales against Queensland in 15 Test matches with an undefeated record. In 1976 he became the first Australian captain, in the inaugural Trans-Tasman series played in New Zealand, where Australia won all matches
