Former Australian 7's Rugby player Bruce Frame secured a development role with the Singapore Rugby Union (SRU) in 1995 and coach of the Wanderers Rugby Club. Wanderers members were active in regular social Touch and supported Bruce in introducing 'Touch' to local schools as a platform for Rugby development. Coaching clinics followed and over the ensuing years FIT supported Singapore with regular Technical courses

Singapore became the 17th FIT member in 1996 and teams participated at the Touch World Cup in Australia. The Singapore Rugby Union reneged on the agreement with FIT to allow Touch to evolve as an independent sport and blocked efforts by Bryan O'Connor, Maureen Thompson and Anne Goh to register as a sports service provider company, however, the organisation would not gain any recognition, support or funding. FIT President approached Wanderer's club member Bryan O'Connor, who registered Touch Singapore Pty Ltd as the recognised SSC and FIT member in the year 2000 and took Touch to another level. Regular competition commenced, coaches supported teams and referees benefited from progressive pathways lifting the standard of play in line with more established nations. Bryan's foresight and innovation gained support from the community and saw Singapore become the hub of Touch in Asia.

Touch Singapore held its first affiliated National Championship in 2002. Bryan created the Asian Club Championship with Singapore hosting the inaugural tournament in the same year and then took this event around Asia to support FIT membership growth and regional development of teams and referees. This was followed by the World Club Championships in 2004, the inaugural Asian All Schools Championship in 2005 and the Asian & World University's Touch Championships in 2006
