Youth World Cup Representatives

Attached are the representative players, coaches and managers who have participated at the three Youth World Cups to date.

At the turn of the 21st Century the Federation had increased its participation base to 23 Countries and decided the Adult game need to expand to include the Youth Touch fraternity. In 2001 the first Youth World Cup began the introduction of young Touch players to the international arena.

Although Youth Tests had been played between Australia and New Zealand since 1991 other countries had not been exposed to this level of competition for their youth players. Four years later the second Youth World Cup was held in Australia and the third was scheduled for New Zealand in 2009.

Budget problems and new staffing arrangement in New Zealand saw it cancelled and replaced by a successful Fourth World Challenge. It was not until 2018 that the Third Youth World Cup came to fruition.
